ULI MN's MnDOT TAP Featured in Urban Land Magazine

Last June, ULI Minnesota convened a Technical Assistance Panel (TAP) on behalf of the Minnesota Department of Transportation, focused on freeway toll opportunities along I-94 and at I-35W near Washington Avenue in downtown Minneapolis. This project looked at how MnDOT can develop a 21st century strategy for freeway construction and was our organization's biggest and most complex TAP to date. The result was a concept called the Healthy Communities Initiative.

Urban Land Highlights T3 Project Tour Led by Sponsors Hines and JLL

On April 13th, ULI Minnesota hosted a tour of T3, a new office building in Minneapolis' hot North Loop neighborhood. Built with engineered timber as the main structural and floor element, T3 takes the classic warehouse look of the North Loop and brings it into the 21st century. The tour was organized by the Young Leaders Group and led by Bob Pfeiffer of Hines, the project's developer, and Sam Maguire of JLL, the leasing agent for the building. Fellow ULI MN sponsor Kraus-Anderson was also the construction firm on the project. The tour was covered by Urban Land as a web feature.
